REMARKS

In order to avoid the objection of the Notice of Non-Compliant dated November 9, 2005, applicant's Attorney hereby submits a complete listing of all five claims in this case along with their respective disposition during prosecution herein. In this connection, Claim 1 is currently amended and claims 2, 3, 4 and 5 are cancelled.

The Examiner has rejected the claims based upon 35 USC 112, first paragraph, second paragraph, 35 USC 103(a), and 35 USC 102(b) relating to enabling, lack of support in the specification, obviousness and anticipation. Applicant has addressed these matters and believes the single claim of record clearly recites new and unobvious structure that is based upon specification disclosures to enable and support practice of the invention, and is neither taught nor made obvious by McCoy '268. All of MCCoy's output channels have the same band width and sample rate. The present invention output channels have different bandwidth and sample rate.
